

Isabelle Fini-Storchi (IT)

Mrs. Isabelle Fini Storchi was born in Florence on the 08.06.1967. In 1993 she graduated with honors and praise with an experimental thesis on the Non-Hodgkin's lymphomas. In 1993 she entered into specialization in Otolaryngology, resulting the first in the admission examination. In 1995 she won the prize of the Italian Society of Otolaryngology and Neck Facial Surgery and in 1997 she won the prize " Prof. Hector Alajmo" at the fifth Regional laryngectomy Convention.

In 1997 she specialized with honors and praise in Otolaryngology and Neck Facial Surgery, discussing an experimental thesis on Schneiderian nose papilloma and she started the graduate school in Audiology. She also opened her medical office where today she is working as a free-lance professional. In 2001 she specialized in Audiology with top marks and praise discussing an experimental thesis on the Migraineous Vertigo. From 1999 to 2011 she has been Hospital Medical Director of first Level in the Otolaryngology Clinic of the University Hospital of Careggi, practicing her clinical and surgical activities. Since 1993 she participated to numerous conventions and meetings both as participant and as speaker with presentation of scientific communications, also experimental. She deals with voice problems of singers since 1998, by participating to numerous courses, conferences and stages and still today she takes care of a large number of professionals of the voice.

- Proel Method for singing

