

Casa dei Produttori

via Cagliari 42

It developed out of the disused industrial complex, the Casa dei Produttori is divided into eighteen blocks that in addition to rooms used for production, it hosts, among other things, the movie theater, costumes, casting, and a typical Piedmontese restaurant. The river Dora flows close to the residential area where the building stands, which has an added advantage as it is located in one of the greenest areas in Turin.

Much of the Torino film industry has always had as its core operating nucleus Casa dei Produttori. Moreover, Turin has a long and significant cinematic tradition encouraged by many local productions for television and cinema.
