

Chiesa della Madonna del Carmine

Via del Carmine, 3

The project for the church was designed by Filippo Juvarra and completed in 1736. It was damaged during the bombing in the Second World War and restructured in 1955. It has a single nave and four chapels on each side of the church. Thanks to the windows above the altar it is one of the most luminous churches in Turin. The bell tower is an outstanding architectural achievement and, acoustically speaking, the reed organ contains 2750 reeds.
