

Kjetil Aamann (NO)

Born in 1965, he grew up in a time when most radio stations played disco and pop continuously. He began his musical career as a singer in a punk rock band. Later he has worked in theatre and broadcasting but first and foremost as conductor of choirs and orchestras. He believes that every person has a musical intuition and creativity, and that every music rehearsal should be fun. He has taught at conservatories in Norway and abroad and as workshop conductor in numerous festivals.
