

Officine Corsare

Via Pallavicino 35

The Laboratorio Corsaro is a political and social journey, parallel to the one of the network of Studenti Indipendenti's university collectives. The Laboratorio Corsaro is open to everyone, also to who is not anymore or has never been a student. The Officine Corsare, that opened officially on the 22nd of September 2010, fully places its creation within the perspective of making a change. Officine Corsare, in fact, identified as Circolo ARCI, is a social space, a motor of initiatives, a crossroad of experiences, and a reference point for the district and, mostly, for a youth generation willing to take the future in its own hands. This project wants to tie again the threads of solidarity, and beside being a space, it is also an idea, a collective action. The Officine Corsare is a public and democratic space, that is plural and inclusive, where culture, politics and mutuality are our passwords and course of action. It is a courtyard, a common space for the associations operating in the structure. It is the antechamber of a real political and cultural circle.
